SUBJECT: Fort Wingate Depot Activity Traditional Cultural Properties
Inventory

Dear Mr. Pappas,

In partial satisfaction of our requirements under the 1991 Memorandum of Agreement between the US Army and the New Mexico State Historic Preservation Office, the US Army has had a Traditional Cultural Properties inventory completed for the Fort Wingate Activity Depot, McKinley County, New Mexico. The Army had a standalone survey report completed to represent the Zuni Pueblo cultural perspective and one to represent the Navajo Nation's point of view.

A copy of each draft report has been sent to your office under separate cover and logged in as one project. We have submitted these draft reports for your review and comment.

If you have any questions concerning these documents, please contact Ms Nancy Parrish of the US Army Corps of Engineers in Fort Worth, TX, who serves as the technical point of contact for Cultural Resources on behalf of the Army. She can be reached at 817-886-1725 or via email at nancy.a.parrish@usace.army.mil.

We look forward to your input on these documents.

Sincerely,
